

Policy Blast: House Releases Draft of President Biden’s Reconciliation Bill with Historic Investment in Urban Indian Health Program Facilities and Additional Extension of 100% FMAP to UIOs

The bill includes $100 million for the renovation, construction, expansion, equipment, and improvement of facilities owned or leased by an Urban Indian Organization and an extension of 100% FMAP for UIOs for another 8 fiscal quarters.

On October 28, 2021, the House Rules Committee released their draft bill of President Biden’s Build Back Better agenda with a decrease in funding for Indian Country from the original reconciliation instruction allocation. The reconciliation package allocates $2.347 billion to the Indian Health Service (IHS) and, for the first time, prioritizes renovations, construction, and expansion of facilities for Urban Indian Organizations (UIOs) with the allocation of $100 million for Urban Indian Health facilities. Another key provision of the bill is the extension of an additional 8 fiscal quarters of 100% Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP) for UIOs beginning April 1, 2021.

NCUIH and UIO advocacy to Congressional leadership helped retain and increase these provisions that were at risk of cuts during this week’s negotiations to reduce the cost of the budget reconciliation bill. However, the overall stark decrease in the funding commitment for Indian Country is devastating for American Indians and Alaska Natives (AI/ANs) and does not uphold the trust and treaty obligations of the federal government.

“Adequate funding for Indian Country is crucial now more than ever, especially as the COVID-19 pandemic has, and continues to be, the deadliest for American Indian and Alaska Native communities. We welcome Congress’s commitment to urban AI/ANs with the investment of $100 million for urban Indian health in the budget reconciliation package and hope for increased funding for the whole of Indian Country. True change requires true investments, and without full funding for the Indian Health Service and Indian Country, Congress still has work to do,” said Francys Crevier, CEO of NCUIH (Algonquin).

Background

UIOs, which are a fundamental, inseparable component of the Indian Health Service/Tribal Health Program/UIO (I/T/U) system, face chronic underfunding. NCUIH has long advocated for adequate funding for ALL three parts of the I/T/U system to better serve the urban AI/AN population.

Next Steps

As the bill awaits Senate agreement, it is still unknown at this time what the final funding of the reconciliation package will look like for all of Indian Country. NCUIH will continue to fully analyze the bill in the coming days.
