ABOUT NCUIH

The National Council of Urban Indian Health (NCUIH) is the national non-profit organization devoted to the support and development of quality, accessible, and culturally-competent health and public health services for American Indians and Alaska Natives (AI/ANs) living in urban areas.

NCUIH is the only national representative of the 41 Title V Urban Indian Organizations (UIOs) under the Indian Health Service (IHS) in the Indian Health Care Improvement Act (IHCIA). NCUIH strives to improve the health of the over 70% of the AI/AN population that lives in urban areas, supported by quality, accessible health care centers.

WHAT IS THE CORAL COUNCIL?

- UIO Ambassador program that brings together experts to share culturally-competent, evidence-based and promising best practices on HIV/AIDS.
- The program intends to highlight UIOs with HIV treatment and prevention programs in place and create a space to share their best practices with the purpose of sharing them throughout the urban American Indian and Alaska Native healthcare community.

WHY CORAL?

- Coral is an organic material that many American Indians attribute soothing qualities to; maintaining that it garners power in its rise from the sea.
 - Coral is meant to aid the wearer in travel and in health and provide protection.
- We acknowledge the Coral Council as protectors and that as members of this council you represent the strength you bring with your knowledge and expertise.
